Enthusiastic Liberty Loan Meeting at Coaldale

Five hundred persons attended the Liberty Loan meeting held at Coaldale in the heart of the Broad Top coal region on Monday evening. Early in the evening six autos carried speakers and the Bedford band to Coaldale, and these cars were joined by others from Everett, Hopewell and Saxton. Arrangement for the meeting had been made by Mr. A. B. Egolf, President of the Liberty Loan Committee of Bedford County, and the meeting was enthusiastic. It was held in the Old Home Theatre, which was filled to overflowing. Mr. Egolf presided and in a very pleasing manner presented to the citizens of that community the dangers before the nation and the necessity for united action by the people of the country.

The other speakers were: B. F. Madore, Esq., of Bedford, and Mr. Geo. W. Derrick, cashier of the Everett Bank, and Mr. Leslie Blackburn, cashier of the First National Bank, of Everett. The addressed were listened to with marked attention. Solicitors then canvassed the audience and the response was splendid. The names of the subscribers are in the honor roll this week.

Alumni Luncheon

The Bedford High School Alumni Association, instead of holding a banquet this year at the close of the Commencement exercises next Friday evening, June 22, will give a luncheon in the large room on the second floor of the Bedford Garage. All members are urged to attend, not only for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year but to make this annual reunion of classmates and schoolmates one long to be remembered. Admission will be fifty cents and you will not regret attending. Music will be furnished and those who enjoy dancing will be given opportunities to enjoy themselves in this manner also. Don't forget the time and place, at the close of Commencement, and the Bedford Garage.

Juniata College Girl to Graduate at Juniata College, Huntingdon

Miss Maude Beaver, of Schellsburg Bedford County, is a member of the graduating class of the Expression Department of Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pa. She has stood the highest in her class throughout the course and during the second semester has been teaching in the Expression Department. As a reader Miss Beaver is always in demand. Just last week she and Dr. C. C. Ellis, the popular lecturer of Juniata College and known to all Bedford County teachers were the main figures of several high school Commencement programs in Clearfield and adjoining Counties.

Miss Beaver has many loyal friends at Juniata and will be greatly missed.

"An Old Professor."

HARRISBURG NEWS LETTER

The days of calendar jugglery are now in full swing about the Legislature. This is as was expected. Closing weeks of a session always witness all sorts of queer things done to and with bills.

The Sarig anti-trust bill affords an excellent illustration. This is one of the best measures before the Legislature and about the only one which would have a direct effect on the high cost of living and bring it down.

After hard work on the part of Assemblyman Sarig, of Berks and other prominent Democrats, the House Committee on Corporations was induced on May 22 to report the Sarig bill favorably. But the committee at the same time took good care to report another "anti-trust" bill introduced by Assemblyman Fowler, of Lackawanna.

The Fowler bill is regarded as a joke. It was introduced a month later than the Sarig bill. Of extreme brevity, the Fowler bill slams trusts and monopolies, but that's about all it does; its language is so vague as to be meaningless.

The Sarig bill is numbered 925. The Fowler bill, introduced weeks later, perhaps to forestall real legislation against trade combinations, is numbered 1473. Notwithstanding these facts, the Corporations Committee took good care to give the Fowler bill precedence. It is on the calendar ahead of the Sarig bill. It will be considered first. If passed, the passage may be used as an excuse for giving the Sarig bill a wallop. It would be characteristic Republican action.

Calendar jugglery, it is said, is even more pronounced this year than usual. On ordinary occasions such methods are used only against Democrats and other opponents of the Republican organization. This year, however, not merely the Democrats are getting it, but the members of the Vare wings of the Republican machine also are suffering. With Senator Penrose in complete control of all officers and committees of the House it is easy to execute any punitive measure of this sort. And they are being executed. Men unfriendly to the Penrose organization are discovering that it is nigh impossible to reach their bills on the calendar. Something always happens to prevent it.

If manhandling of bills on the calendar should attain the proportions of a scandal it will be second only to the outrageous methods practiced all session in sending bills to committee. Nothing like this session's methods have ever been seen.

Of course, there's nothing to prevent a presiding officer sending a bill where he will. He could commit every piece of legislation to the Committee on Centennial Affairs or the Committee on Retrenchment and Reform, if he wished—or to any other old body that never meets.

Presiding officers, however, as a rule have some dignity and exercise some care in sending bills to an appropriate committee. They don't send divorce bills to the Fish and Game Committee, nor pure food bills to the Mines committee nor pursue any such tactics—as a rule. That's what President pro tem Beidleman and Speaker Baldwin have been doing all session, however. The answer is not difficult. Even with the committee in complete control the presiding officers have cared not to take any chances with certain legislation and have sent it to a trusty committee.

Senator Beidleman probably will live to regret bitterly the session of 1917. Members of his own party predict freely that his performances this year have killed any chances he may have had to realize aspirations for a higher state office—not stopping even at the governorship. The president pro tem added materially to his enemies at the hearing last week on the Ramsey third class city bill, as he did several weeks ago at the hearing on his own third class city bill.

Men about the Legislature are accustomed to Beidleman. His gutter tactics commonly only amuse them, altho they may experience irritation, too. But at the third class city hearings the atmosphere was different. Men were assembled from third class cities all over the state. They were men of influence and standing in their communities. Some of them were politicians who control more than one county. They are accustomed to cross-examine, at least, in public affairs.

Senator Beidleman's political tacticon knows no such words as courtesy or the harridan-type. Instead of according pleaders a hearing, he cross-examines them and attempts to intimidate and bulldoze them in the same way he would browbeat witnesses and jury in criminal court, so far as the bench would permit.

It is doubtful if there is a third class city in the state in which the leading men are not swearing vengeance on Beidleman when they get a chance—no matter what become of the legislation.

The question is asked daily at Harrisburg if deliberate attempts are being made to swell the profits of the state printer. No one ever saw the reprinting of bills for purely typographical errors which prevail this year. Literally scores of bills have been reprinted without real cause. The number of pages runs into the hundreds, for, officially, the entire bill must be reprinted if any amendment be made—and the state pays the freight.

Is "the" mis-spelled "teh"? The bill is amended. "Pennsylvania" can't possibly be recognized as "pennsylvania;" it would invalidate the act; so the bill goes back to the printer. No one would know that "fruit" meant "fruit," even with clear context, so more printing bills are run up.

In previous sessions it has held repeatedly that purely typographical errors do not necessitate amendment—that they can be corrected without formal action. This position has been taken by some of the best lawyers who ever have presided. But this year, it seems, every error which is detected forces a reprinting.

Possibly the coming change in the state printer has something to do with the situation. The printing contract of W. Stanley Ray will expire July 1. John L. L. Kuhn will be the new printer. Kuhn doesn't stand in quite so well as Ray. Ray has been state printer off and on, generally on, for many years. He has grown weakly out of it and has carried relatives and friends with him. He lost out on the new contract by a narrow margin when bids were opened. Of course, the more work he has during the life of his contract the more money he makes. He is a favorite with the Penrose politicians and they seem to be overlooking nothing in his favor.

The Senate, especially, has another dodge for increasing the printing. It is by recommitting bills and then amending them slightly before reporting again. Each amendment means a reprint.

The Recommitment practice serves another useful purpose. It causes the Senate to look as if it does something. One week the Senate will report from committee a big bunch of bills. They will be advanced to second or third reading and then the following week most of them will be recommitted. All this helps to make a big "week's work." It enables the senators to make a show, even if it doesn't satisfy their own consciences.

The principal difference between a Pacifist and a real man is that the latter is willing to fight with something besides his tongue.

It does not follow that because a man can write a most intelligent column of garden hints that he can go out in his back yard and raise a garden.

Military Organization of Jews.
The military organization of the Jews began with their departure from Egypt. Every man above twenty years old was a soldier. Each tribe formed a regiment with its own banner and its own leader. Their positions in the camp or on the march were accurately fixed.

"Alma Mater."
The phrase "alma mater," as applied to colleges and universities, is said to have originated in the University of Bonn, Germany. A statue of the Mother of Christ—the alma mater, or beloved mother, stands over the doorway of that famous seat of learning. From it the phrase received its origin.

Some men seem to think that carrying some handsome silk flags on their automobiles is a good substitute for buying a Liberty bond.

FOR THIRSTY GARDENSWindmill Plays Important Part in Production of Food.

Lack of Timely Rainfall Is Often Doom of Otherwise Carefully Handled and Tended Patch—Conserve Water Pumped.

That the farm windmill should play an important part this year in the great food-production campaign, is the belief of H. B. Walker, drainage and irrigation engineer, Kansas State Agricultural college.

"The farm windmill should be no 'slacker' this year," said Professor Walker. "It should be ready day and night to absorb the energy of the wind to lift water for thirsty gardens. Lack of timely rainfall is often the doom of an otherwise carefully handled and tended vegetable garden."

"This year the farm garden will be an important factor in reducing the cost of living. Accordingly, every precaution should be taken to prevent a failure of the garden crops. In those areas where the natural rainfall is not dependable, some simple method of irrigation should be provided."

The farm windmill will serve faithfully and well in lifting water for irrigation if given an opportunity, Professor Walker pointed out. This faithful source of farm power, however, will not save the garden unless the owner cooperates in conserving the water pumped. The average windmill lifts water intermittently and at a slow rate. Consequently, if the water pumped is allowed to flow directly onto the warm, dry soil, a small area only can be satisfactorily covered. A small trickling flow does not spread laterally over the surface of the soil, but it percolates deeply into the soil beyond the reach of the shallow-rooted vegetables.

If the water lifted, on the other hand, is stored in tanks, barrels, or reservoirs, a volume sufficiently large can be secured in a surprisingly short time to effectively irrigate a much larger area. A barrel of water containing 3½ gallons will cover a garden bed six feet wide by eight feet long, one inch deep. A quantity of water even as small as this, if properly applied, will greatly help the lettuce bed or the shallow-rooted radishes. It is advisable, therefore, to use even an ordinary barrel for storage, if nothing larger is available, in preference to direct pumping.

A reservoir sufficiently large to hold all of the water the average windmill can pump in three or four days is much more desirable.

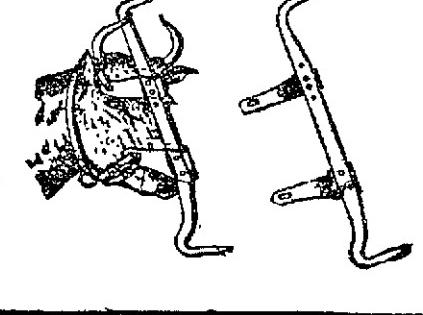

MISSOURI PLAN BEST

Carl Vrooman, assistant secretary of the United States department of agriculture, has commended the organization plan adopted by the Missouri College of Agriculture for war-crop production. Mr. Vrooman said recently, after he had visited a number of states, that the plan was the best that had come to his attention.

COWS SHOULD BE KEPT CLEAN

Milk Should Be Drawn Into Covered Pail Which Is Washed and Scalded After Each Milking.

To keep dirt and bacteria out of milk, the cows must be kept clean, especially in the region of the udder. The milk should be drawn into a covered pail which is thoroughly washed and scalded after each milking. Only good clean water should be used for this purpose.

William McKinley and Grover Cleveland Complimented Brooks' Band

"A GREAT band. Your concert greatly appreciated" is what William McKinley said after hearing Brooks' Band, Oct. 9, 1896. President and Mrs. Grover Cleveland also tendered unsolicited compliments to Mr. Brooks during their sojourn at the famous Hotel Ponce de Leon, St. Augustine, Fla., where Brooks' Band was playing at the time.

The old Chicago Times-Herald said more than twenty years ago, "Ellis Brooks is the equal of Sousa as a conductor." The New York World once said, "Brooks' Band has been the most attractive feature of Nantasket's summer entertainments." The Minneapolis Journal: "The greatest organization that has ever visited Minneapolis and one of the greatest in the world." And the Minneapolis Tribune: "Brooks' Second Regimental Band is an organization that has never been excelled by any of its kind in Minneapolis." The Louisville Courier-Journal: "Mayor Tyler says that Brooks is the equal of Sousa in his opinion, and we think he is right." The Cincinnati Enquirer: "The band led by Ellis Brooks is one of the best in the country."

Mr. Brooks is also a composer. John Philip Sousa, Victor Herbert and the Boston Symphony Orchestra have played his compositions and on special occasions have had Mr. Brooks present and personally conduct those organizations in his own compositions.

Brooks and his band give two concerts here the fourth day of the Chautauqua.

$50,000 Owners' Contest to Follow Maxwell's Economy Triumph of May 23rd

Hundreds of Maxwells on May 23rd made good our claim that a Maxwell will go further on a gallon of gasoline than any other 5-passenger car—now, from June 16th to 30th, we expect 40,000 Maxwells to make as good or a better showing than was made on historic May 23rd

May 23d was Maxwell Gasoline Economy Contest Day all over the United States and Canada.

Fifty Maxwell cars went a total of 1,983.6 miles on a total of 50 gallons of gasoline.

The average gallon mileage of those cars was 39.67. And these were privately owned Maxwells—in actual daily use.

Those 892 cars averaged 27.47 miles per gallon of gasoline. More wonderful records are being received daily.

We could rest our laurels on this great triumph—but we don't intend to do that.

$50,000 In U. S. Liberty Bonds To Be Given Away Next Time

Now we're offering $25,000 in U. S. Liberty Bonds as prizes to the 500 Maxwell owners who make the best mileage on one gallon of gasoline. Every Maxwell owner has an even chance to win a bond.

The other half of the $50,000 in Liberty Bonds is to go to dealers for helping us with this stupendous undertaking.

If you own a Maxwell your chance to win a Liberty Bond is as good as anybody's.

The contest is open to women as well as men Maxwell owners.

WATCH YOUR WASTE

Little Talks on Health and Hygiene
by Samuel G. Dixon, M. D. LL. D.
Commissioner of Health

When will the American people who have lived in the land of plenty awaken to the fact that we are engaged in the most serious war this world has ever known?

We are just beginning the fight to keep our enemies away from our heretofore peaceful homes.

The Allies, with whom we are fighting shoulder to shoulder will depend upon us for food, and our army of producers must necessarily be lessened by those who go to the front to guard us from our enemy with their muskets as our forefathers did during the pioneer days of America.

To feed our men at the front and their allied friends we must not only talk about cutting down our sinful waste, but we must get down to

"brass tacks" and use all the foods we buy with the money we earn in our various occupations, and many of us by the sweat of our brows.

It is high time we lay aside the frills and get down to real practical work. In times of distress wrought by the tremendous acts of nature such as earthquakes, cyclones, etc., and also by the devastations and horrors of war, all social lines are broken down, and we are found in our shirt sleeves working side by side.

The State Department of Health of Pennsylvania has from its birth been talking health and economy to the people at our firesides through the newspapers, in the cities, on the ideal farms, at the coal mines, in the forest, and to those who turn the wheels of all kinds of industries.

Today we have gone so far as to peep into the garbage buckets of the poor and the rich only to meet a surprise by finding good pieces of bread, potato, ginger snaps, mutton and meat, and use all the foods we buy with the money we earn in our various occupations, and many of us by the sweat of our brows.

Health is the efficient reaction of the mind and body to its environment. Self interest, state-benefit and pecuniary profit require that the whole nation be interested in the proper treatment of every one of its members and "in its own interest it has the right to see that the relations between individuals are not such as in any way to injure the well-being of the community at large." This is being realized in the United States today as never before and on every hand the general government, the state and local health authorities and the general public are seen striving toward the accomplishment of this

Sow to Swat
Consider ye yon tiny seed
With a mighty germ in'
If ye sow, and swat the weed,
That small seed will fill a need.

A WOBBLY ALLEY

Three years ago if anyone had said that American safety and prosperity depended in the least degree on such a remote creature as the Russian peasant, he would have been called crazy. Yet the stock market, which reflects business temperature, rises or falls according to the news from Russia.

If the crackpots and featherheads of the new regime seem to have the ear of the dazed and bewildered mounik down go our stocks. Obviously if Russia is to be a quitter, the American task is made twice as great and the war prolonged.

Russia is simply crazy if it imagines it can play any lone hand. The democratic nations will have to hang together or hang separately. If one of them defaults on the field on honor, who will go to her help next time? The dreamy Socialists of Russia think they are working for a Utopian peace where the lion and the lamb shall become playmates and everything be lovely-dovey. Actually they are playing the Kaiser's game and should be rewarded with iron cross.

Also if Russia is to be a real republic, it must have a real election and have it right away. The excuse is given that the peasants are too busy farming to stop and elect their officers. If that excuse had ever been given in this country for the postponement of an election, it would have been obvious that it was contrary to some one's interest to let the people have a voice. Provisional governments usually provision themselves only. It looks as if the crowd in control at Petrograd were fearful of the sober sense of the Russian masses.

America is represented at Petrograd now by an able mission. Meanwhile let us all remember that it is for the interest of our enemies to see that this unrest is reported to Russia's allies. There used to be riot and disorder under the old regime, but it did not get by the censorship.

BONDS OF HONOR

Rolling seas and grieving sky,
And the winds of all the world;
And over the wake of a grim, gray
fleet,
Marching the leagues of an endless beat.

A shining flag unfurled.

Thunder and flame and shrouding
smoke,
And the veil of Night is kind,
The pale stars wait till the pall shall rise;

Yonder, ah, see! The flag yet flies.
And a Liberty Bond behind.

God of the dawn on gleaming steel,
There where the legions rest
And Man and his tireless tools take breath

Ere they shall challenge the lists of Death,
Court of the Final Test.

Thunder of Hell unleashed by Thor,
And a starred flag flying high.
Which shall conquer and which shall quail?
Ah, shall it triumph or shall it fall?
Bonds of Honor, reply!

THE cost of a cheap, inferior, chaff-loaded coffee, plus a premium, is the identical price at which Golden Sun Coffee sells without a premium. Use the one and you have a worthless premium and flat, bitter, murky coffee, but use Golden Sun—and while you get no premium, you do get a coffee that will be strong, full-bodied, rich, of exquisite flavor and superb aroma. Its use is an economy, for cut by special process, Golden Sun is chaffless. Sold by grocers only.

THE DECLINE OF SHEEP RAISING

Startling figures are given showing the decline in sheep raising. Receipts at five leading packing cities in 1915 were a little over 11,000,000 and only two years before they were over 14,000,000. Looking back over a longer period in New York state, there were in 1870, 5,000,000 sheep, while there are now about 400,000. The high prices predicted for men's clothing are one of the results of this decline. Also the toothsome leg of lamb that so many of us used to lay in for Sunday dinner is getting to be a luxury beyond the ordinary table.

The breaking up of the great range of the West the high cost of labor, grains, and shelter, are given as reasons. Growers who are trying to raise flocks anywhere near towns and villages, say the ravages by sheep killing dogs are the worst difficulty they have to contend with. Some states are passing laws requiring dogs to be tied up.

It seems a hard fate for an animal to which man is so deeply attached. The dog is an out door animal who thrives only under conditions of tree development. Many owners would as soon have him dead as hitched to a rope, or kept in doors all the time.

Where sheep are ravaged by dogs, probably 99 per cent. of the canines of the neighborhood are innocent, but it is almost impossible to prove which is the one that does the bloody trick.

Dog breeders could help out by breaking puppies of this habit. Sheep men say it is easily done. Two or three whippings permanently convince Tewzer that sheep are animals to be regarded with contemptuous indifference. Something should be done so that the sheep, whose hoof is traditionally shot with gold, could come back again to the fields where it once flourished. It makes a living on soil otherwise useless and converts briars and brambles into good flesh and fabric.

"Come across and help us!" says the French, who are fighting the battles of liberty and the world's future peace.

And you can help. Even if you can't come across with a gun you can buy your share of the Liberty Loan.

Come across and help!

And the elders who criticise the boys July 4 doings are getting ready also to demonstrate their patriotism on the holiday by tearing around the country 30 miles an hour in an automobile and scaring all the horses.

Feeling that there are too many automobiles on the road for public safety, a determined effort is being made every Sunday to smash up and get rid of a lot of them.

The boys are getting ready to display their patriotic devotion to the nation in this crisis, by removing gates and burning up old carts the night before the Fourth.

The people who attend the graduating exercises complain about the number and length of the essays, but just think how much more they know after they have heard them.

The Rookies' Lament

No more ham and eggs and grapefruit

When the bugle blows for "chow"
No more apple pie or dumplings,

For we're in the army now.
And they feed us beans for breakfast

And at noon we have 'em too.

And at night we fill our tummies

With a good old army stew.

No more fizzes, beer or highballs

When we've got an awful thirst.

If you're thinking of enlisting

Climb the water wagon first

For the lid's on tight all over

And the drillin's makes us warm,

But we can't cool off with liquor

Cause we wear the uniform.

But, by James, we'll lick the kaiser,

When the sergeants teach us how;

For, darn him, he is the reason

That we're in the army now.

TREE TALKS

Enough trout have been planted in the State Forest streams to furnish a round dozen for every inhabitant of a city the size of Harrisburg.

—O—

From 2,500 population in 1909 to a population of about fifty in 1913, is the record of Crossfork, Potter county. When the nearby timber was exhausted the whole town was abandoned.

—O—

The only animal known to eat baked beans and pie for breakfast is the "wood hawk". Several of the State Forest tree planting camps were obliged to serve baked beans almost every morning.

—O—

Nine-tenths of the "wintergreen oil" sold by druggists is really birch oil. Hundreds of gallons are being made this year on the State Forests because New York chemists and pharmacists are willing to pay war prices. It is used as a remedy for rheumatism and to disguise the taste of such medicines as castor oil.

—O—

Chestnut blight is now reported from almost every one of the fifty-two State Forests. The Department of Forestry is advising against the planting of chestnut anywhere in Pennsylvania.

1776! 1812! 1861!

There is an editorial in the July Woman's Home Companion which says:

"It would be a good thing to read some of Washington's letters on July Fourth, and see the way his great heart was made to bleed by the utter failure of support either from the army or from the people for which he fought."

To be sure 300,000 men enlisted in the American Revolution, or another, to fight was never more

and here
They were ill or planned with ammunition

"And of that 300,000 who was almost never able to muster more than twenty thousand for active service at one time, and the capture of Trenton was made out only four thousand."

Time after time he prepared for operations which might have won decisive victories and shortened the war. And he could not carry them out, because the people who ought to have stood behind him did not appreciate for a hard-fought long-contested war and could not give him support.

New chapters in all history are more depressing than the story of the war of 1812. Not one single important battle was won by the American forces on land.

At Bladensburg the American militia, behind breastworks, fled at the first volley from a little force of British regulars, not one third their number. And the British marched across the bridge and burned the capitol.

"We are coming, Father Abraham," sang the men of 1861; but Lincoln, waiting day after day in Washington, cried out in agony of heart, "My God, will they never come?"

"And when they did come, it was to march to ignominious defeat at Bull Run."

"They were untrained boys, who had enlisted for ninety days. The war was to be quickly over; no one thought it would be a long war. And because no one thought it would last long, it dragged itself out for four years, when it ought to have been fit through in two."

SHIPPING THE ARMY

BIG PROBLEM NOW

Transportation Of Troops Only Part Of Great Task Confronting

U. S. Officials

Washington, June 12.—Shortage of ships for military transport service constitutes the biggest single problem before America's war chief today.

That the dispatch of the bulk of the new army may have to be delayed by reason of this lack of transport is admitted by men in charge. True, there are sufficient ships to carry vast numbers of soldiers, but this is only a small part of the problem, inasmuch as the men must be constantly supplied with food, clothing, artillery and other equipment.

This in itself is a tremendous task. The army will require its own weight in food every 30 days, while all artillery must be replaced about every 30 days. Other supplies must be kept going on a constant stream. In addition to these needs there is a vital commerce of supply to the Allies which must be maintained at all hazards.

Hence with these two needs—commercial and military—Government heads are sorely perplexed about meeting the problem. Next year will see a new flotilla of cargo carriers but the big needs will come in the next few months.

Despite the dark background to the situation, authorities are not dismayed. The Shipping Board is doing its utmost and hopes to increase its output even above estimates. Lord Northcliffe, coming here as an unofficial representative of Great Britain, is counted on to make some vital suggestions in the line of obtaining enough shipping for all needs. He is opposed to any attempt at sending abroad so large an army that it cannot be victualled and otherwise supplied. As army plans now stand, they contemplate dispatch of units abroad more or less constantly and in comparatively small numbers.

Soldiers already partly trained will get the finishing touches in France. The fact of sending these skilled men ahead will necessarily delay somewhat the dispatch of the new army, for absence of training forces will delay the molding of the new army.

The War Department indulges in no figures or dates, inasmuch as such information is of value to the enemy but in general it can be said that the idea of sending no troops across for a year has been modified, and that the Peninsular expedition will be augmented by other forces before the expiration of a year.

By the end of a year the transport situation will be clarified, it is felt, whether or not the submarine menace has been solved. Navy men, working on anti-submarine devices, however believe they will get the answer to the submarine eve long, and that this will simplify shipping problems considerably.

THE CRIPPLES

AGE TO CORRECT

They cripple us. Yet we have not the sense or the courage to correct the evil.

Look at the shape of the baby's foot. That is the natural shape of the foot. Before the bones are formed we begin forcing the tiny feet into the vise we call shoes. By the time the child is graduated from school the foot is turned for life.

That's why the other day twenty-two out of forty of the young men who sought to enlist in the service of the country were rejected, that's time, instead of the foot nature intended for man, we have broken arches, twisted toes, corns, bunions, flat feet.

Slaves to custom, creatures of custom, we handicap ourselves, distort a part of our structure, suffer pain and discomfort and have not sense enough nor justice enough to save our children from like sufferings and similar handicaps.—New York Mail.

Goddess of Justice.

In Greek mythology Astraea, daughter of Zeus and Themis, was the goddess of justice. She is represented with a pair of balances in her hand and a crown of stars. She was the last of all the goddesses who left the earth when the golden age had passed away and men began to forge weapons and commit acts of violence.

Jeanette Kling, Play Reader

J EANNETTE KLING is one of the five leading lyceum play readers of America. She comes the third evening of the chautauqua. Each winter she goes to Washington and studies all the late copyright plays. She then selects the one she thinks chautauqua audiences would like the best. This one she presents on the chautauqua platform the next summer. Some people say that they would rather see Miss Kling put on a play all by herself than to see it in an opera house.

Mme. Lillian Ringsdorf

It will, of course, be the big day of the Chautauqua, and the feature program of Band Day is the singing of Mme. Lillian Ringsdorf. Her clever child impersonations, Mme. Ringsdorf has sung with bands that have played to Chautauqua audiences, headed her own and otherwise distinguished herself as one of the most charming entertainers that the Chautauquans have brought out. She will attract in the afternoon and evening programs the fourth day.

A Newspaper Writer Describes McConnell

This bit of description of Lincoln McConnell, the Chautauqua lecturer, was written short time ago by a writer on the Oklahoma at the time of McConnell's visit to Oklahoma City:

Perhaps no more striking countenance ever faced an audience in this city. It immediately compels consciousness of the man's magnetism. The eyes are almost hypnotic in their peculiar fascination. The mouth is the orator's, the lines about it the humorist's, the light furrows of the broad brow the philosopher's, the gray above the temples the thinker's, the deep chest and powerful frame the athlete's, the nervous, strong hands the eager, zealous indefatigable worker's.

Students of character instantly observe the wide mouth, a veritable school of expression in itself. It's the mouth of the orator. Its lower lip arrests attention. It is the instantly obedient servant of its master's mentality. He exercises absolute muscular control over it. He bids it go hither and yon and it obeys. He can mimic the woman of fashion or the gun man of the Bowery with it. It is flexible as a piece of thin rubber.

His language is elegant, stately uncouth, polished—all in the same breath. He uses those words that have the "punch" in them whether recognized by those society or not.

He wants to reach the hearts of men, so delivers his message in language all can understand.

How to Teach a Dog.

Kindness, firmness, and patience are necessary qualities in teaching a dog. Nothing can be done by cruelty, and if you lose your temper you will never teach him anything. It is very little use trying to teach an old dog. Begin when he is young and do not overtrain him. Also do not overfeed him, for most of the lessons have to be taught by a system of small rewards in the shape of tit-bits of food.

Difficult Achievement.

"My young friends," said a member of the board of trustees, who was addressing the school, "let me urge upon you the necessity of not only reading good books, but also of owning them, so that you may have access to them at all times. Why, when I was a young man I used frequently to work all night to earn money to buy books, and then got up before daylight and read them."

Hang the Expense!

As George folded the fair young creature to his heart a dull, cracking sound smote his ear. "Ah! It's good by those cigars in my vest pocket," he said jocosely; "but hang the expense at a moment like this."

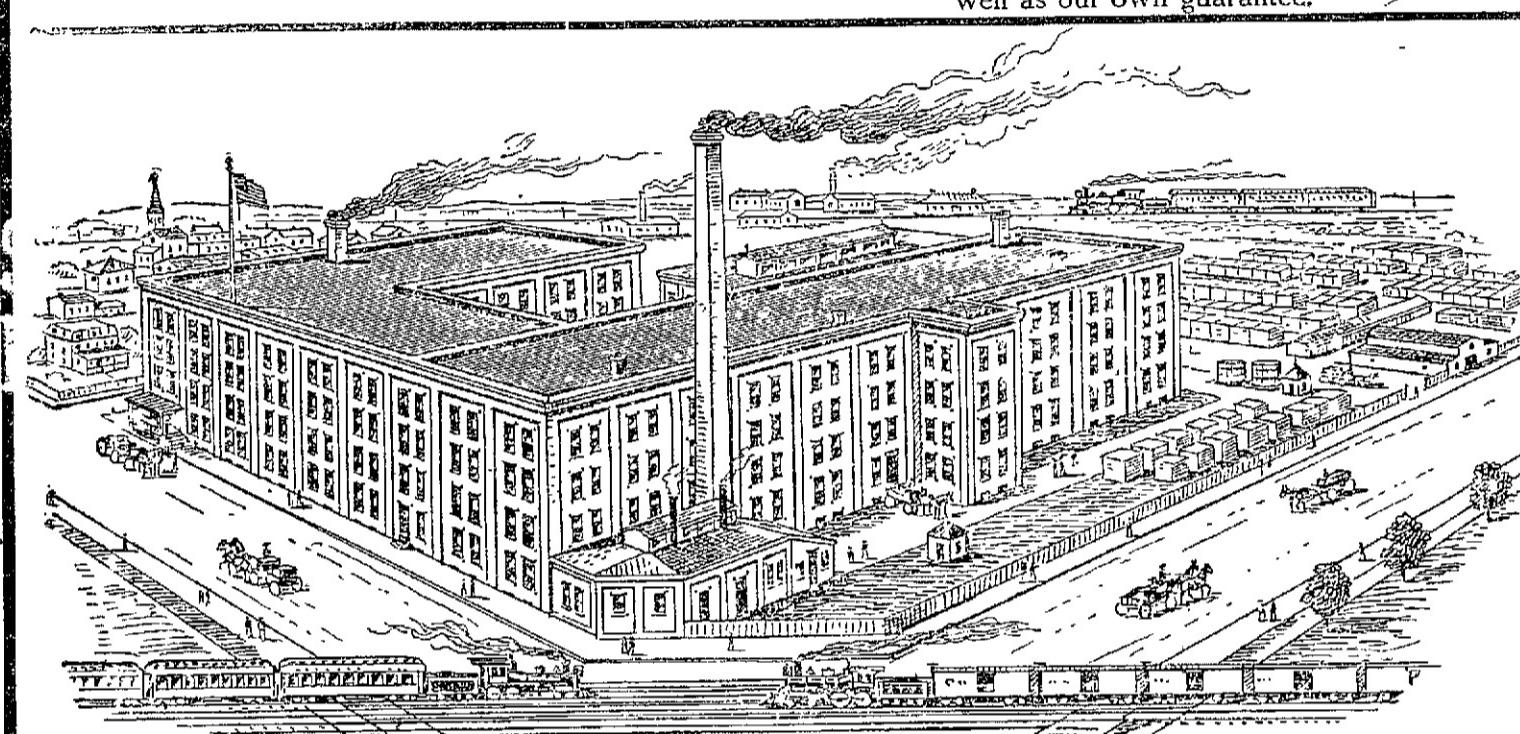

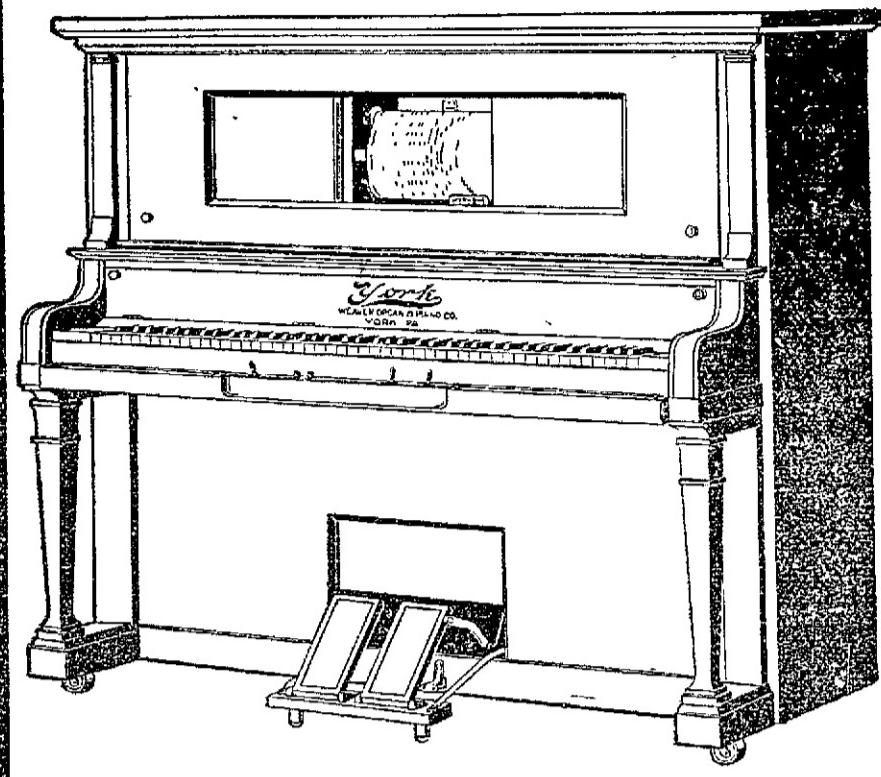

In Other Days.

Until a New Jersey man tried to corner the potato crop of his neighbor hood the mosquito was considered the most undesirable insect produced in that section of the country.—Washington Star.

Indiana Good Orchardists. The American apple owes much to the care of the Indiana farmers, for the Indian was an able pomologist. It was not unusual 150 years ago for Indian orchards to have 1,500 trees, which had been duly pruned and cultivated by the people we are prone to regard as nomadic savages. The peach and quince were also cultivated there in later years. To the world Indiana introduced such fruits as persimmon, the pawpaw, the peach and the Virginia strawberry.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Acting Director of the Sunday School Course of the Moody Bible Institute.) (Copyright, 1917, Western Newspaper Union.)

LESSON FOR JUNE 17

THE RISEN LORD.

LESSON TEXT—John 20:2-16.
GOLDEN TEXT—But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept.—I Cor. 15:20.

The death of Christ made a deep impression upon the beholders (Luke 23:48, 49). Joseph, who seems to have been a secret disciple, obtained the body, and gave it burial (Mark 15:42-47). In Mark's record we have the story of the discovery of the resurrection by the women, and Matthew tells us how his enemies dealt with that fact. Be sure to use a good harmony of the four gospels in presenting all of these lessons, else some important detail will be overlooked.

I. Mary's Visit to the Tomb (vv. 1-10). The Sabbath ended at sundown, and the shops were then open, and Mary Magdalene was able to purchase spices with which to anoint the dead body of Jesus. There is strong probability that the women paid a visit to the tomb late on Saturday (Matt. 28:1, R. V.). Starting the next morning, "while it was yet dark" (v. 1), they came to the tomb to perform this last service of love. Jesus had no need of such service (Matt. 16:27; 20:19), but the women were rewarded by receiving the first glimpse of the risen Lord. There were five appearances on this first day of the week: (1) to Mary Magdalene, (2) to the "other women," (3) to Peter; (4) to those on the way to Emmaus, and (5) to the ten disciples, Thomas being absent.

None of these seemed to expect Jesus to be risen, for they had each failed to listen to and ponder his words. The extent and genuineness of the affection of the women is found in that they went to serve Jesus when apparently all hope had failed (I Cor. 13:8, R. V.). As soon as Mary saw the stone rolled away, she concluded that the tomb had been rifled, and hastened to report to the disciples (v. 2). This report of the women to the disciples was considered "an idle tale" (Luke 24:11). With intense eagerness Peter and John ran to the tomb thus reported as being robbed. John, the younger, reached the tomb first, but in reverence did not enter, only stooping to look in (v. 4). Peter, the impetuous one, rushes inside, and sees the linen clothes lying, and the napkin that had been about the head carefully folded and lying in a place by itself (v. 7). This apparently insignificant detail is one which is really significant, inasmuch as it shows that the tomb had not been rifled, leaving disorder behind. Instead of excitedly snatching the napkin from his face, and hurling it whether it might fall, he had quietly taken it off, and in an orderly way laid it aside. It is in such minute details as this that we see the greatest evidence of the veracity of this record.

II. Mary Weeping (vv. 11-15). The disciples returned to their own homes, and doubtless to the other disciples (v. 10), but the loving Mary remained behind in this place made sacred as having housed the body of the Lord. It is natural for us to linger in silent meditation in places of our greatest revelation or of our deepest soul experience. Jesus had told his disciples over and over again that he should rise again, and it seems strange that his enemies should have remembered it (Matt. 27:63) and his friends not.

III. Mary Worshiping (vv. 16-18). There must have been an inflection in the voice of Jesus, for upon the utterance of that one word, "Mary," she recognized her risen Lord. Joyfully she exclaimed, "Rabboni," that is to say, "Master" (v. 16), and would have poured out her love and worship at his feet. Jesus, however, does not suffer her to hold him fast. Mary must leave him, and tell the others. Literally, he says, "Do not lay hold of me but go and make known the glad truth that I am risen again." The risen Lord must return to "My Father" and "My God," whereas the one who would gladly have remained at his feet must go to the brethren, and make known the facts of the fulfillment of prophecy and the resurrection of our Lord.

The bribed soldiers spread abroad the tale that the disciples had stolen his body. The later lives of these disciples, their heroism and martyrdom, are evidence of the absurdity of any such act on their part.

The resurrection of Jesus is a vindication of his claim to being the Son of God. We do well to emphasize his birth, and to dwell much upon his death, yet both of these have no essential value apart from his resurrection.

Apart from this, the cross is the end of a failure. The resurrection demonstrated that Jesus Christ's redemption was not completed upon the cross. The resurrection is better authentication than any other event in history.

The risen Lord called this weak band of disciples "my brethren" (Matt. 28:10). He is our brother still, and we are to proclaim his work of redemption, the proof of which is the resurrection, unto others who know it not, for this story is no fiction. It is the world's most tremendous and awe-inspiring and glorious fact.

THE DREAD OF THE DRAFT

Now that the registration of men liable to military service has taken place, every man can begin to tell whether he has within himself the making of a soldier. Some men who never saw themselves in that light will be surprised to see how calmly they take this overshadowing possibility.

A case of suicide of a man who feared being drafted was reported the other day, but such instances will be infinitesimal in number. The fear of things is worse than the reality. The atmosphere of soldier camps has always been a cheerful one.

The people who will suffer will be those who are left at home. Those who go will be cheered by music, by the spirit of the army, the contagion of enthusiasm. There will be warm comradeship and hearty friendships in army life. The boys will look forward without anticipation to seeing strange lands and foreign cities and alien peoples. They would not choose to travel in that way, but many men who never expected to go abroad will welcome this chance to see the world.

In ancient times the young men started off for the wars in the same jolly spirit in which the boys of today start for college. In this more fearful and introspective age we have lost this careless audacity. We are upset if we can't avoid risks and if our loved ones must take them. But all reports from Europe are that the men part for the battle fields with no show of feeling and in good spirits and our boys will do the same.

The drafted men will be the heroes of their home towns and camp surroundings. Many an obscure youth who never before could get recognition will now find himself suddenly elevated on a pedestal of local fame. It will develop initiative and manliness, and all who return safely, as the vast majority will, are sure to be stronger men for the experience.

A superb zeal for knowledge is displayed for about a day and two nights previous to examination day.

THE SCHOOL GRADUATION

To those of us with no children in the schools, Commencement exercises don't seem to mean much. We look at them as pretty social and scholastic functions, where the girls look very sweet in their fetching gowns, the boys are very brave with their orations, and there is a pleasing atmosphere of literary culture.

They mean far more than that. Here is a new reinforcement to community life. These young people have been uplifted by the ideals of history. They have learned something from human experience, and can identify mistakes of the past that should be avoided. They have struggled with languages and mathematics, and have acquired habits of industry and application.

Such an influx into our community means new force. It means broader minds to help solve civic and economic problems. If only all our boys and girls could at least have high school courses, how it would increase our national efficiency!

SOME HURLERS NOT AS DANGEROUS AS THEY SEEM

Plank, for instance, says Cobb, seems to have eye glued to runner, but cannot stop thefts.

Because a pitcher appears to be looking at first base all the time, you need not think that he is in position to throw over there. Eddie Plank, for example, seems to have his eye glued to the runner on the initial station but he cannot throw there unless he just lobbs the ball and he is therefore an easy man to get a lead on. Some other men who do not seem to be paying much attention to the runner really are watching him out of the corner of their eyes. Caldwell, Bender, Coombs, Walsh and Shawkey are examples of right-hand pitchers who are hard to run bases against. Walter Johnson is a tough one, too, because he gets the ball away so fast and throws with so much speed that the catcher is ready to peg before you are anywhere near second base, says Ty Cobb, in the American Boy.

Never slide headfirst. It is dangerous to you, because the man covering the bag is likely to step on you or jump for the ball and come down on your hand. Also, a headfirst slider is not feared by the basemen and they may block you off rather roughly if they get a chance. Kid Elberfeld, then with New York, cured me of sliding headfirst in about the first game I ever played against him. I went into second on my stomach and he came down on my head and sat there. It jarred me up so badly that I immediately made up my mind I would learn to slide feetfirst and I didn't rest until I had acquired at least the rudiments of the accomplishment.

Let the umpires alone when close decisions are called against you on the bases. It doesn't get you anything almighty to be kicking and if you persist, it may cause the umpires to turn against you and give you the worst of it. Any umpire who is at all competent calls plays the way he sees them. He may be wrong, but even if he is, the decision, once made, must stand and there is no use wrangling about it. Most kicks are made to cover up the player who has been called out anyway. The athlete tries to make the umpire the "goat" in order that the fellow who has failed to go through with an attempted steal or some other play can present an "alibi" for falling down.

Patriotism in the Kitchen.

"Each housewife who dons her national uniform, the kitchen apron, and starts in with the proper determination to do her bit toward the great food conservation campaign is as much a patriot as the man who runs a plow or carries a gun," said Miss Bab Bell of the Missouri College of Agriculture recently in discussing the housekeeper's part in the war.

"However, most housewives are becoming alarmed and confused at the numerous warnings on all sides—'eliminate waste,' 'substitute inexpensive foods for expensive ones,' 'use left overs.' If the women representing the 20,000,000 homes of this country are to accomplish anything they must stop talking and begin work now in a sane and systematic manner," said Miss Bell.

"The first logical step for every housewife is to make a thorough study of food values. For the last 15 years home economics specialists have been preaching food values but very little attention was given this subject until recent years. Now when we stand face to face with the present great food shortage every woman sees the absolute necessity of having this knowledge. She sees that without it she is helpless to make the proper selections and the proper substitutions."

Airplanes Made Fireproof.

One of the greatest dangers to the war fliers is that they can be set on fire by shrapnel or incendiary bullets. W. R. Weeks has written a letter to the Aero Club of America stating that this difficulty has been overcome by the invention of a liquid chemical compound, which will make the wooden and canvas parts of the machines absolutely fireproof. If this invention is all that is claimed for it, one of the greatest dangers has been removed from flying, not only in war, but in peace, for there is always danger that the machine may catch fire from the engine.

FARM POUCLTRY

MASH FOR FATTENING DUCKS

Mixture of Cornmeal, Wheat Shorts, Cottonseed Meal, Salt and Gravel Is Recommended.

A mash that will fatten young ducks and make mature ducks lay is recommended as follows. This mash may be fed throughout the year. It is made as follows:

Cornmeal	50 lbs
Wheat shorts	50 lbs
Cottonseed meal	15 lbs
Ground lime rock (fertilizer lime, not caustic)	2½ lbs
Sharp gravel or sand	2 lbs
Fine table salt	½ lb

Total 120 lbs

On the large duck farms they add about 10 per cent cut green or steamed alfalfa or clover hay, grass, rape, cooked small potatoes, turnips or similar vegetables. The green stuff is not necessary when ducks are on a green range, but it is beneficial even then that it adds bulk, variety and greater palatability.

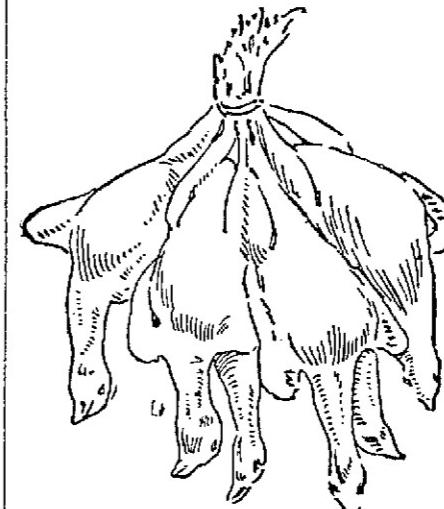

Mix the mash with water or sour skim milk or buttermilk to a crumbly moist condition and feed twice daily what the ducks will eat in 20 minutes.

Give a light feed of whole corn at noon. Place water in a wooden trough or galvanized iron vessel with a larger bottom than top. Have the water deep enough to reach above the nostrils and give the ducks an opportunity to clean out their nostrils in the water.

SQUABS RAISED FOR MARKET

Birds Should Be Graded According to Size and Quality—Pack in Cracked Ice, Breasts Up.

Squabs should be graded according to size and quality, as dark-colored and small squabs tend to lower the price paid for an entire shipment of mixed squabs. They are usually packed for shipment in a good supply of cracked ice, breasts up, with paraffin paper between each layer of ice and squabs. Some express companies have a special rate for squab shipments, which should be secured whenever possible. The express charges on small shipments of squabs reduce the profit materially, making it difficult to sell the squabs from a small flock at a profit if they have to be shipped to commission men. As the period at which a squab is right for market is not over one week, it is necessary to have a good-sized flock to have over one dozen squabs ready for market at one time. A local market which will take any number of squabs is a great aid to the small producer. Where one has a small flock it usually pays best to build it up until it is large enough to make good-sized shipments of squabs. This, however, requires a constant outlay without any return, for some time.

The production of squabs from each pair of breeders varies from one or two to as high as ten or eleven pairs a year, but an average of from six to seven pairs is a fair estimate, although some squab breeders do better than this. Squabs usually sell at the highest prices during cold weather, as pigeons do not breed as freely during the winter as during the spring.

TREAT CHOLERA IN TURKEYS

All Fowls Which Show Symptoms of Disease Should Be Separated—Give Sulpho-Naphthol.

The word is used to cover a number of intestinal disorders, but cholera is a contagious germ disease and is practically incurable. Place all birds which show any symptoms of the disease in a house remote from other poultry buildings and one which can be easily and thoroughly disinfected. Give the birds a few drops of creolin or sulpho-naphthol in their drinking water, just enough to turn it faintly milky. Give the birds a one-thousandth of a grain tablet of corrosive sublimate every three hours. Feed sparingly on soft easily digested food. All badly affected birds should be killed by a blow on the head without drawing blood, and then burned.

Rake up and burn all litter used in the house and runs occupied by infected birds. Spray the runs and all parts of the building with creolin or sulpho-naphthol solution, one tablespoonful to two gallons of water. The runs should also be plowed frequently.

BACKACHE IS A WARNING

Bedford People Should Not Neglect Their Kidneys

Backache is often nature's most frequent signal of weakened kidneys. To cure the pains and aches, to remove the lameness when it arises from weakened kidneys, you must reach the cause—the kidneys. If you have pains through the small of your back, kidney and bladder disorders, headaches, dizzy spells, or are nervous and depressed, start treating the kidneys with a tested kidney remedy.

Doan's Kidney Pills have been proved good and are especially for weak kidneys. Doan's have been used in kidney trouble for over 50 years. Read Bedford testimony.

Mrs. Martha Davidson, 357 West Pitt St., Bedford, says: "I was very nervous and had severe headaches. My back ached constantly and the least bit of work tired me. When I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I decided to give them a trial and got a box at Heckerman's Drug Store. In every way they acted just as presented and gave me prompt relief."

Over Six Years Later, Mrs. Davidson said: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills once in awhile since first endorsing them and they have kept me in good health."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Davidson has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. Jan. 19. 2t.

How the Great Boy Scout "Loan" Campaign Began

The way in which the Boy Scout Movement's nation wide campaign for the Liberty Loan originated is interesting and indicative of "outside" appreciation of the potentialities of the Scout Movement.

When the committee of bankers in the Second Federal Reserve District began its work for the sale of the bonds, those who were directing the campaign sought connection with various organizations and institutions which might aid. One among the many that were communicated with was the Boy Scouts of America to which the common question was put as to how that organization could assist in this great work for the Government.

The officials at the National Headquarters of the Scout Movement took the matter up, assembled quickly a conference of scout workers in the Greater New York District, communicated by telegraph and telephone with scout officials in other centers, and on the morning of the second day had a plan made which provided for the largest single effort ever undertaken by the Scout Movement in this or any other country.

A study of existing literature on the Liberty Bond was made by the Headquarters staff, and copy prepared for a circular 12½x19 inches. This was submitted, in proof form, to representatives of the bankers' committee and an official of the Treasury Department on the following day and these men gave enthusiastic approval of it.

In accordance with suggestions of the Liberty Loan Committee, the Chief Scout Executive, Mr. James E. West, went the next morning to Washington where he and the President of the Boy Scouts of America, Mr. Colin H. Livingstone, conferred with the Treasury Department officials. Finding there the same enthusiasm over the plan perfected for the Boy Scout campaign, the matter was taken up with the Public Printer and before night arrangements were completed for the printing of ten million copies of this circular in the Government Printing Office.

Trying to Discredit Whole Wheat Bread

That there is a campaign among the millers of wheat and interests allied to them to discredit efforts to persuade people to prefer whole wheat bread to white bread, is asserted by Dr. Charles E. Banks, senior surgeon of the United States Public Health Service.

He says that present methods of milling utilize only 75 per cent of the grain, and this is almost exclusively the starchy part; the other 25 per cent, containing the phosphorus, mineral salts, vitamins, &c., is sold by the millers as feed for hogs and cattle. These grow fat on it, for they are getting the best part of the wheat.

Dr. Banks says the diet of white bread is responsible for Americans of today being pale and anaemic in youth and fat and flabby at forty, whereas their grandparents, who ate whole wheat bread, were strong and athletic.

What would your dollars be worth to you if the Kaiser got them? He will if you hold them out. Put them into the Liberty Loan and save them for yourself and your own kind of folks.

PRINCE ALBERT

the national joy smoke

YOU'LL find a cheery body-do on tap no matter how much of a stranger you are to the neck of the woods you drop in. Prince Albert is right there—at the first place you pass that sells tobacco! The toppy red bag sells for a nickel and the tidy red tin for a dime; then there's the handsome pocket and hand around the humidor and the round crystal-glass humidor with sponge-moistener top that keeps the tobacco in such bang-up trim all the time!

This is the reverse side of the Prince Albert tidy red tin. Read this "Patented Process" message to you and realize what it means in making Prince Albert so much to your liking.

It answers every smoke desire you or any other man ever had! It is so cool and fragrant and appealing to your smokeappetite that you will get chummy with it in a mighty short time!

Will you invest 5c or 10c to prove out our say-so on the national joy smoke?

ARMED U. S. LINER IN FIGHT WITH U-BOAT

Steamship Virginia Escapes Damage in Battle in Bay of Biscay

An Atlantic Port, June 9.—A running fight with a German submarine in which forty-two shots were fired, was reported today by the armed American steamship Virginian upon her arrival from a French port.

The Virginian was not damaged. The gun crew did not know whether any damage had been done to the submarine. The fight occurred in the bay of Biscay on May 30.

The submarine opened the engagement by firing a torpedo, which missed its mark.

Torpedo Misses Ship, Which Fires on U-Boat

Washington, June 9.—Another encounter between an American steamship and a submarine is described in the following statement today:

"The department of state is informed that an American ship was fired on by an enemy submarine. The torpedo passed within two yards of the boat, and the periscope was seen. The vessel fired on the submarine. It is not known whether the submarine was hit."

COUNT MUST STAY IN JAIL

MaxLynar Louden Too Dangerous to Be Loose in War Times

New York, June 12—Counsel for Count Max Lynar Louden, alleged German agent appeared before Judge Rosalsky today and asked for his parole from the Blackwell's Island Penitentiary, where he is serving a term for bigamy. The Court's answer to the plea was: "I shall reserve decision until after the war is over."

The District Attorney's office in opposing Louden's move said he would if released, "be a constant menace to the Government" because he was one of those kind of men skilled mentally and physically whom foreign governments use in their intrigues against one another."

The Count was convicted of bigamy about a year ago while Government agents were investigating his suspected German activities.

State Forest Paid Into State Treasury $36,900.72

During the two-year period ending June 1, 1917, the State Forests paid into the State Treasury $36,900.72, as shown by a statement of finances prepared at the direction of Commissioner of Forestry Robert S. Conklin. If the Department had been willing to sacrifice future benefits for the sake of making a big showing now, says the Commissioner, this sum could have been increased fourfold.

Practically all of the revenue is derived from the sale of mineral and dead or over-mature timber. Very little growing timber has been cut, and the Forests are really in better condition because of the removal of this material. So far the greatest obstacle to the removal of marketable timber has been the absence of good roads in the Forests. If an adequate appropriation is granted this year, the Department should use a large part of it in road building. Most of the trails and fire lands have been planned so that they may be made into roads, and because of work already done the cost of converting them will be low.

NIP RISING OF CONVICTS

300 Pounds of Dynamite and Hundreds of File Stilettos in Cells

Chicago, June 11—Sufficient dynamite to blow up the State Penitentiary at Joliet, and hundreds of files converted into stilettos and knives, were found today in the cells of the convicts in the State prison by Warder Murphy.

Warden Murphy estimated that at least 500 pounds of dynamite had been found in the cells up to noon.

The dynamite, taken by the convicts from the near by quarry where they worked, and the files, stolen from the workshops, were hidden in the bedding of the convicts' cots and in boxes secreted in the cells.

It is believed by the prison officials that the finding of the dynamite and improvised weapons furnishes evidence of a concerted plot on the part of the hundreds of convicts at Joliet to organize a systematic attack upon the prison and bring about a general delivery.

What They May Claim.

Pennsylvania claims to contain the Hercules of the nation as well as the Vulcan. New York will no doubt put in a claim as the Midas of the land. Washington as the Jupiter, Boston as the Minerva, and Oskaloosa, Iowa, as the Venus. And Chicago, with ten changes of weather at each performance, will put in its claim as the Mercury.

OWN WIRE FOR PERSHING

Direct Connection Between General and the United States

Washington, D. C., June 12—General Pershing, commander of the American expeditionary force in France, will have his own field telegraph system, independent of the British and French systems. It is probable also that he will have the use of the cable to the United States at stated intervals or periods of the day. The latter arrangement has not yet been concluded.

The base of the American overseas expedition has not yet been finally selected. It is probable the officers who preceded General Pershing to France will inspect all available sites and make their recommendations to the American commander when he arrives.
